Party in Fort Worth supports activities that enhance our city

Do not pass Go. Climb aboard the Reading Railroad and ride past Boardwalk, Park Place and Pennsylvania Avenue. It's the 24th annual Party in Fort Worth, benefiting the Fort Worth Promotion and Development Fund.

"FortWorthopoly" is the theme for this year's party planned for March 4 at the Fort Worth Convention Center. The architectural firm of Bennett Benner Partners and the engineers at Dunaway Associates are hosts of this year's party. Michael Bennett and Tom Galbreath are event co-chairs.

This year's party honors the dynamic businesses that help make Fort Worth a great city. It will be a night to connect and celebrate; a night to be grateful and generous; a night to relax and kick up your heels.

The Party in Fort Worth is an annual event benefiting the Fort Worth Promotion and Development Fund. The fund, which is governed by a 13-member board, invests funds to promote Fort Worth before regional, national and international cultural, business, sports and governmental organizations. The Promotion Fund also provides resources for the development of local events, attractions and exhibits that enhance Fort Worth's ability to recruit business and leisure visitors. To learn more about the party, contact Joanna Crain at 202-494-5604.

Our next RHANA meeting's guest speaker is Brian Byrd. He is running for city council in our district.
